FOREWORD BY THE CHIEF JUSTICE OF NEW SOUTH WALES

It is my pleasure to present the 2019 Annual Review of the Supreme Court of New South Wales. It is essential for the rule of law in our democratic society that the Court continues to maintain the confidence of the people of New South Wales. This Review is an important resource in this pursuit as it provides a transparent and comprehensive overview of the structure, operation and activities of the Court. This enables the public to see and scrutinise how justice is administered in the state's superior court of record.

The Supreme Court has an overriding obligation to facilitate the just, quick and cheap resolution of disputes. This Review demonstrates that it has been another busy year for the Court as it discharges this obligation.

It is pleasing to see the Court's performance in 2019 against national benchmarks. The percentage of cases less than 12 months old remained steady in exceeding the national standard in the Court of Appeal at 93% of cases and in the Court of Criminal Appeal at 97%. Despite the number of pending cases in the Common Law Division increasing by 11% in 2019, the percentage of civil cases in the Common Law Division less than 12 months old remained fairly consistent at 68%. Similarly, I note that whilst the age profile of pending cases in the Equity Division worsened slightly at 65% of cases being less than 12 months old (from 67% in 2018), the number of filings in the Equity Division increased by 3%. This increase in the number of filings particularly reflects the notable increase in the number of filings in the Corporations List by 40%.

The Supreme Court continues to support mediation as a method of alternative dispute resolution for civil proceedings. This is demonstrated in the continued increase in the rate of referring cases to mediation. In 2019 there were 1,407 referrals, a 20% increase from the 1,169 referrals in 2018.

The new Practice Note for the Bails List commenced in June 2019. Since the introduction of the Practice Note, the listing delay for bail applications has become markedly less volatile. Of note, during the final three months of 2019, the withdrawal rate for Bails List applications was 18%, a significant reduction from the rate during the same period in 2018 (68%).

Of course, the statistics in this Review only reveal so much. It is important to remember that these figures do not, and cannot reflect the quality of the justice administered in 2019 by the Court's judicial officers and registrars. Nor do these figures reveal the breadth or complexity of the work undertaken by the Court as the superior court of New South Wales.

2019 brought with it a considerable number of new appointments. In my foreword last year, I welcomed Justice Andrew Bell, who was appointed as the President of the Court of Appeal in January after the appointment of the former President, Justice Margaret Beazley, as Governor of New South Wales. I am also very pleased to welcome Justices Patricia Henry, Mark Ierace and Richard Cavanagh who were also appointed to the Supreme Court in 2019. I am confident that the calibre of these appointments will enable the Court to continue its excellence in facilitating the resolution of disputes in our state.

Finally, I express my sincere thanks and gratitude for the support and hard work of my colleagues and the staff of the Supreme Court during 2019. This Review is testament to their commitment to delivering the highest levels of service to the people of New South Wales.

The Hon T F Bathurst AC
Chief Justice of New South Wales

THE COURT'S JURISDICTION AND DIVISIONS

The Supreme Court of New South Wales: our place in the court system

The court system in New South Wales is structured on a hierarchical basis. The Supreme Court is the superior court of record in New South Wales and, as such, has an inherent jurisdiction in addition to its specific statutory jurisdiction.

The Supreme Court has appellate and trial jurisdictions. The appellate courts are the:

- Court of Appeal
- Court of Criminal Appeal.

The trial work of the criminal and civil jurisdictions is divided between two Divisions:

- Common Law Division
- Equity Division.

This structure facilitates the convenient dispatch of business in accordance with the provisions under section 38 of the Supreme Court Act 1970.

Section 23 of the Supreme Court Act 1970 provides the Court with all jurisdiction necessary for the administration of justice in New South Wales. The Supreme Court has supervisory jurisdiction over other courts and tribunals in the State. The Court generally exercises this supervisory jurisdiction through its appellate courts.

The Land and Environment Court of New South Wales is a specialist court of statutory jurisdiction. The Judges of this court have the status of Supreme Court Judges.

The District Court of New South Wales is an intermediate court, and its jurisdiction is determined by statute. The Local Court of New South Wales sits at the base of the hierarchy of New South Wales courts and has broad criminal and civil jurisdictions.

The NSW Civil and Administrative Tribunal (NCAT) was established by the Civil and Administrative Tribunal Act 2013. The NCAT is the single point of access for specialist tribunal services in NSW, consolidating the work of 22 former tribunals. There are 4 divisions of the NCAT: the Administrative and Equal Opportunity Division, the Consumer and Commercial Division, the Guardianship Division and the Occupational Division.

Figures 1.1 and 1.2 illustrate the court hierarchy in New South Wales and the gateways to appeal in the criminal and civil jurisdictions.

Court of Appeal

The Court of Appeal is responsible for hearing appeals in civil matters against the decisions of the judicial officers of the Supreme Court, other courts, commissions and tribunals within the State, as prescribed in the Supreme Court Act 1970.

Court of Criminal Appeal

The Court of Criminal Appeal hears appeals from criminal proceedings in the Supreme Court, the Land and Environment Court, the District Court and the Drug Court. Appeals may challenge convictions and sentences imposed upon indictment or in the trial court's summary jurisdiction, or interlocutory orders made by the trial court. Appeals from committal proceedings in the Local Court may also be heard in certain circumstances.

Sittings of the Court of Criminal Appeal are organised on a roster basis, taking into account the other regular judicial duties and commitments of the Judges who form the Court's bench. The Judges who sit in the Court of Criminal Appeal are the Chief Justice, the President, the Judges of the Court of Appeal, the Chief Judge at Common Law and Judges of the Common Law Division. During 2019, most benches in the Court of Criminal Appeal comprised at least two Common Law Judges, with the presiding Judge being the Chief Justice, the President, a Judge of Appeal, or the Chief Judge at Common Law.

The Court of Criminal Appeal List Judge throughout 2019 was Justice R A Hulme.

Common Law Division

The Common Law Division hears both criminal and civil matters. The criminal matters involve homicide offences and offences where the prosecution seeks life imprisonment. Other matters involving serious criminality or matters of public interest may be brought before the Court with the Chief Justice's approval. The Judges of the Common Law Division also hear bail applications, matters concerning proceeds of crime, and post-conviction inquiries.

The Division deals with all serious personal injury and contractual actions, in which the Court has unlimited jurisdiction. The civil business of the Division also comprises:

- claims for damages
- claims of professional negligence
- claims relating to the possession of land
- claims of defamation
- administrative law cases seeking the review of decisions by government and administrative tribunals
- appeals from the Local Court.

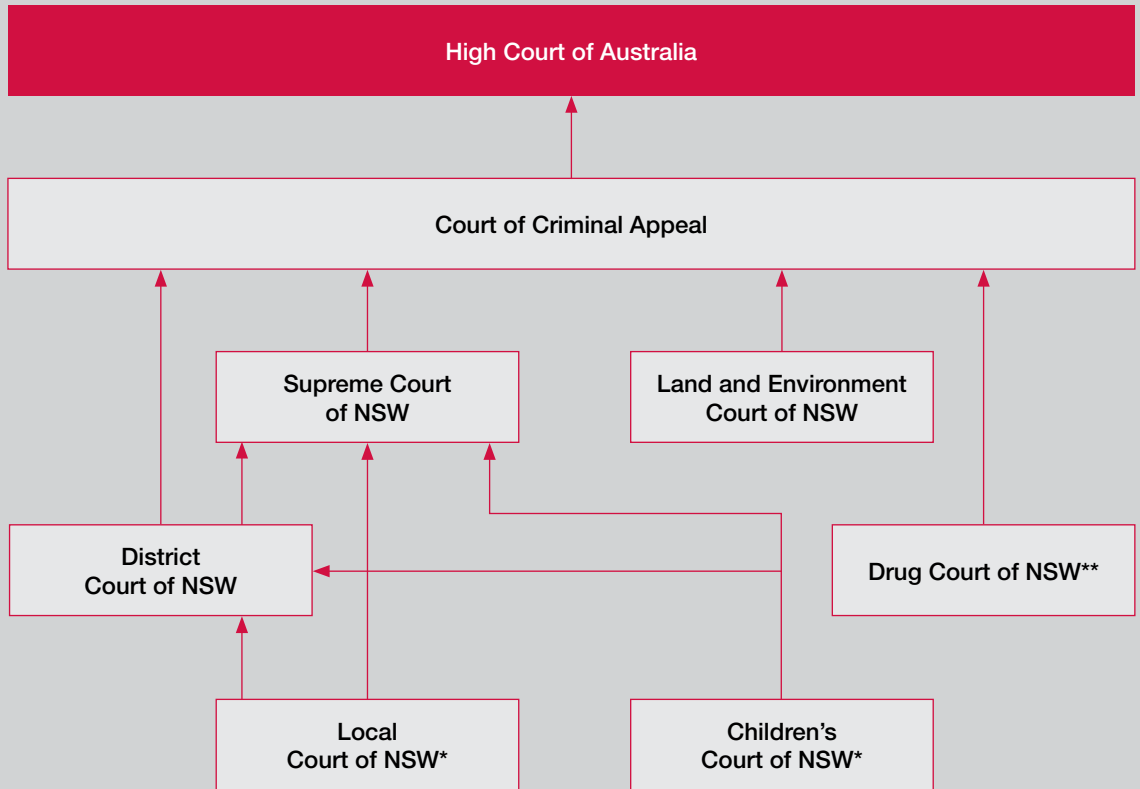

Equity Division

The Equity Division exercises the traditional equity jurisdiction, dealing with claims for remedies other than damages and recovery of debts. The Division's work includes cases arising from contractual actions or rights of property, and disputes relating to partnerships, trusts or deceased estates.

The Division hears applications brought under numerous statutes, including the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth), the Succession Act 2006, and the Property (Relationships) Act 1984. The Division also handles a diverse range of applications in the areas of admiralty, commercial, technology and construction, and succession law, and the Court's adoption and protective jurisdictions.

* Appeals from certain decision of NCAT may be made to the Court of Appeal, Supreme Court, Land and Environment Court or District Court. See Civil and Administrative Tribunal Act 2013 ("the Act"), Part 6, Division 3. Also, certain decisions may be judicially reviewed by the Supreme Court or Court of Appeal under Section 34 of the Act; refer to section 48 of the Supreme Court Act 1970 as to which decisions are assigned to the Court of Appeal.

 Appeals can be made to the District Court of NSW, or directly to the Supreme Court in certain circumstances

WHO MAKES THE DECISIONS?

The judicial officers of the Supreme Court of New South Wales are its Judges and Associate Judges. The Registrars of the Court have limited decision-making powers.

The Judges

The Governor of New South Wales formally appoints the Judges of the Court following a decision by Cabinet. Judicial appointments are made on the basis of a legal practitioner's integrity, high level of legal skills and the depth of his or her practical experience.

Appointment is pursuant to section 25 of the Supreme Court Act 1970. Section 25 specifies that the Court will include: a Chief Justice, a President of the Court of Appeal and such other Judges of Appeal, Judges and Associate Judges as the Governor may appoint from time to time. The Governor is also empowered to appoint qualified persons as Acting Judges of Appeal or Acting Judges when the need arises.

The Chief Justice is, by virtue of the office, a Judge of Appeal, and the senior member of the Court of Appeal. The other members of the Court of Appeal are the President and the Judges of Appeal. The Judges of the Court are assigned to specific Divisions and ordinarily confine their activities to the business of those Divisions. The Chief Justice may certify that a particular Judge should act as an additional Judge of Appeal in a particular matter before the Court of Appeal.

The Supreme Court Act 1970 also provides that the Chief Justice may appoint Judges to administer a specific list within the Common Law or Equity Divisions. Details of the Judges assigned to these lists in 2019 can be found in Chapter 3.

Set out below are the Judges of the Court, in order of seniority, as at 31 December 2019.

The Acting Judges

Set out below are details of those persons who held commissions as Acting Judges during the 2019 calendar year. Unless otherwise indicated, the judicial officer's commission was effective for the entire calendar year.

Acting Judges are asked to preside over specific hearings as the need arises. The total number of days each person acted as a Judge of the Court during 2019 is also indicated.

Acting Judges of Appeal (in alphabetical order)

- The Honourable Arthur Robert Emmett AO QC, former Judge of the Supreme Court of New South Wales and Judge of Appeal (acted as a Judge and Judge of Appeal for 227 days).
- The Honourable Ronald Sackville AO QC, former Judge of the Supreme Court of New South Wales and Judge of Appeal (commission effective until 13 July 2019, acted as a Judge and Judge of Appeal for 59 days).
- The Honourable Carolyn Chalmers Simpson AO, former Judge of the Supreme Court of New South Wales and Judge of Appeal (acted as a Judge and Judge of Appeal for 210 days).

Acting Judges

- The Honourable Peter John Hidden AM QC, former Judge of the Supreme Court of New South Wales (acted as a Judge for 138 days).

Appointments

The following Judges were appointed in 2019 (in chronological order):

- The Honourable Justice Lucy McCallum, a Judge of the Supreme Court of New South Wales, was appointed a Judge of Appeal of the Supreme Court of New South Wales on 29 January 2019.
- Patricia Anne Henry was appointed a Judge of the Supreme Court of New South Wales on 30 January 2019.
- Mark Joseph Ierace SC was appointed a Judge of the Supreme Court of New South Wales on 31 January 2019.
- Dr Andrew Scott Bell SC was appointed the President of the Court of Appeal of the Supreme Court of New South Wales on 28 February 2019.
- Richard Austin Cavanagh SC was appointed a Judge of the Supreme Court of New South Wales on 16 September 2019.

Retirements

The following Judges retired in 2019 (in chronological order):

- The Honourable Justice Ruth Stephanie McColl AO retired as a Judge of Appeal of the Supreme Court of New South Wales on 27 January 2019.
- The Honourable Justice Robert Calder McDougall retired as a Judge of the Supreme Court of New South Wales on 31 January 2019.
- The Honourable Justice Margaret Joan Beazley AO retired as the President of the Court of Appeal of the Supreme Court of New South Wales on 28 February 2019.
- The Honourable Justice Monika Schmidt AM retired as a Judge of the Supreme Court of New South Wales on 11 September 2019.

The Associate Judges

The Governor appoints Associate Judges to the Court under section 111 of the Supreme Court Act 1970. Associate Judges are usually assigned to perform work within either the Equity or Common Law Division. However, they may be asked to work outside the confines of these Divisions in the interests of flexibility.

The work of an Associate Judge generally involves hearing applications that arise before trial, certain types of trial work and work on proceedings that the Court of Appeal or a Judge may refer to the Associate Judge.

Applications that arise before trial include:

- applications for summary judgment
- applications for dismissal of proceedings
- applications for extensions of time to commence
- proceedings under various Acts
- applications for the review of decisions of Registrars.

In the Common Law Division, Associate Judges conduct trials of actions for personal injury and possession of property. Associate Judges also hears other trials (without a jury) that are referred by the Court of Appeal or a Judge, in addition to appeals from the Local Court and various tribunals.

In the Equity Division, Associate Judges deal with proceedings under the Family Provision Act 1982 and the Property (Relationships) Act 1984, and applications for the winding up of companies under the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth). Associate Judges also deal with inquiries as to damages, or accounts referred by the Court of Appeal or Equity Judges, along with applications relating to the administration of trusts, and certain probate matters.

As at 31 December 2019, the Court's only Associate Judge was the Honourable Joanne Ruth Harrison (Common Law Division).

The Registrars

Registrars of the Court are appointed under section 120 of the Supreme Court Act 1970 pursuant to the provisions of the Government Sector Employment Act 2013. The Chief Justice may also certify officers of the Supreme Court or Local Court to act as Deputy Registrars of the Court from time to time.

Registrars are allocated to work within the Court of Appeal, the Court of Criminal Appeal or to one of the Court's Divisions. They are permitted to work outside particular Divisions, if required.

Registrars are afforded limited powers of the Court under the Supreme Court Rules 1970 and the Uniform Civil Procedure Rules 2005 and undertake some of the functions formerly performed by Judges and Associate Judges.

The work of the Registrars commonly includes:

- defended applications in relation to security for costs, discovery, interrogatories, provision of particulars, and subpoenas
- costs disputes if the amount in question is unlikely to exceed $20,000
- unopposed applications for the transfer of cases to or from the District Court
- conducting examinations under various Acts, including the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) and the Proceeds of Crime Act 1987 (Cth)
- dealing with applications for orders under many of the provisions of the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth), such as the winding up of companies
- hearing applications as referred to them by an Associate Judge
- issuing court orders and writs of execution, and
- entering default judgments.

The Supreme Court Rules 1970 and delegations under the Civil Procedure Act 2005 permit Registrars to directly assist the Judges in caseload management. For instance, in the Court of Appeal, the Registrar deals with most interlocutory applications, excluding applications to stay judgment pending an appeal. In the Common Law Division, a Registrar conducts directions hearings in the General List, and also assists the Possession List and Professional Negligence List Judges.

The Registrars may also be called upon to mediate cases. During 2019, ten of the Court's Registrars were qualified mediators and available to conduct mediations throughout the year on a rostered basis.

Deputy Registrars are rostered to act as Duty Registrar and to provide procedural assistance each day to court users in person, or by email or telephone. They also attend to the issue of court orders, writs of execution and other miscellaneous matters.

Set out below are the Registrars of the Court, as at 31 December 2019:

Executive Director and Principal Registrar

Chris D'Aeth

Director, Assistant Principal Registrar and Prothonotary

SUPPORTING THE COURT: THE REGISTRY

The work of the Registry

The Registry provides administrative and clerical support to the Court.

In civil matters, the Registry is responsible for:

- accepting documents filed at the Court
- securing the custody of court documents including exhibits and documents produced under subpoena
- listing matters for hearing
- issuing court process
- attending to the information needs of the Court's users by providing procedural guidance
- maintaining the Court's physical files and computer records
- ensuring that all the necessary facilities are available for hearings.

In criminal matters, the Registry provides support in processing committals, bail applications, applications under Part 7 of the Crimes (Appeal and Review) Act 2001, and Common Law Division criminal summary jurisdiction proceedings.

In respect of the Court of Appeal, the Registry provides specialised administrative and clerical support to the Court of Appeal Judges and offers procedural guidance to litigants and their representatives. Similarly, for the Court of Criminal Appeal the Registry provides support to the Judges hearing criminal appeals and also issues orders concerning the custody of prisoners.

Management of the Registry

The Chief Justice directs the priorities to be pursued by the Registry. In general, the priorities reflect the central aim of meeting the expectations of Court users competently, efficiently and professionally.

Operational management of the Registry is handled by the Executive Director and Principal Registrar of the Court. The Executive Director is responsible for securing and managing the resources provided to the Court by the New South Wales Department of Communities and Justice. The Executive Director also provides executive support to the Court's judicial officers and develops strategies to improve the delivery of Registry services. These duties are undertaken in close consultation with the Chief Justice, other judicial officers, the Department, key professional bodies and Court users.

2 CASEFLOW MANAGEMENT

- Overview by jurisdiction
- Regional sittings of the Court
- Alternative dispute resolution

OVERVIEW BY JURISDICTION

Introduction

The Court manages the flow of its cases from inception to completion in a number of different ways and is continually looking to improve its processes and outcomes.

The Court's case management procedures are set out in the Uniform Civil Procedure Rules, the Supreme Court Rules and the Practice Notes issued by the Chief Justice.

Commonly, cases will be allocated to registrars to establish the core arguments in dispute and determine when cases should progress to hearing before a judge or the associate judge. A registrar makes directions to ensure that a case is properly prepared for hearing. If an issue arises that falls outside the specified powers of a registrar, he or she may refer that case to a judge or the associate judge.

Court of Appeal

New appeal cases are reviewed for competency and, if necessary, referred back to legal representatives to either substantiate the claim of appeal as of right or seek leave to appeal. Applications for leave to appeal are examined to ascertain whether they are suitable for hearing concurrently with the argument on appeal.

Appeals are allocated a directions callover date before the Registrar of the Court of Appeal once a notice of appeal is filed. At that callover, the appeal may be listed for hearing if the appellant has filed written submissions and the red appeal book. Further case management may be ordered with respect to lengthy or complex appeals.

The registrar manages and lists most appeal cases and applications for leave to appeal, although some cases may be referred to a Judge of Appeal for special case management. Urgent cases are expedited and can be heard at short notice, if appropriate. The registrar also deals with most interlocutory applications (in accordance with a delegation by the Chief Justice under section 13 of the Civil Procedure Act 2005).

Mediation is offered to parties in appeals identified as capable of resolution by this process. Detailed statistics regarding the number of matters referred to mediation can be found in Appendix (I).

Detailed information about case management practices in the Court of Appeal is set out in Practice Note SC CA 1.

Court of Criminal Appeal

Accused persons may initially lodge a Notice of Intention to Appeal, without specifying their grounds of appeal. The Notice of Intention to Appeal allows the accused person six months (or such longer time as the Court grants) to file an appeal. Transcripts and exhibits are now provided to accused persons free of charge to facilitate the preparation of an appeal.

Case management begins when an appeal or application for leave to appeal is filed in the registry. The appeal or leave application is listed for callover within two weeks of filing. Callovers are held fortnightly, although special callovers can be held in urgent matters. At the callover, the presiding registrar will fix a hearing date and make directions for the filing and serving of submissions by the parties. The registrar also manages cases that are deemed to require special attention.

Generally, three judges hear an appeal or leave application. The Chief Justice may also direct that a bench of more than three judges hears an appeal or leave application, particularly in matters involving an important issue of law. In some circumstances, the Chief Justice may direct that two judges hear an appeal against sentence. Single judges hear sentence appeals from the Drug Court of New South Wales, and also deal with bail applications and other interlocutory applications in the Court.

The Court of Criminal Appeal List Judge during 2019 was Justice Hulme.

Common Law Division

Case management in the Common Law Division begins when a summons or statement of claim is filed in the registry. Each summons or statement of claim (with the exception of Possession List matters and money claims, known as 'default' matters) is given a return date before a judge or registrar and placed in a List. A judge is appointed to manage each List, while the Common Law List Judge monitors all cases listed for hearing before a judge. Registrars handle default matters administratively.

Common Law List Judge

The Common Law List Judge allocates cases listed for hearing to specific judges. When deciding which judge will hear a matter, the List Judge considers the type of case, its estimated hearing length, and whether the judge has other court commitments. The List Judge also hears various applications in cases already listed for hearing, including all applications for adjournment. From time to time, the List Judge will issue further case management directions in cases already listed for hearing. The Common Law List Judge during 2019 was Justice Fagan.

Common Law Duty Judge

The Duty Judge is available each day to hear urgent applications, including applications for interlocutory injunctions, during and outside normal court hours when required. Judges of the Division are rostered to act as the Duty Judge for one week at a time during Law Term. A Vacation Judge is rostered during the court vacation to perform this role.

The Duty Judge also conducts an applications list each Monday. The applications in this list include appeals from the Local Court under the Crimes (Local Courts Appeal and Review) Act 2001, applications for restraining orders, applications for declaratory relief, and applications to dispense with a jury. These matters cannot be determined by the associate judge or a registrar. Matters are initially listed at 9:00 am before a registrar to determine whether the application is ready to be referred to the Duty Judge, who may specially fix applications that cannot be heard on the Monday to a later time or date.

The Duty Judge determines interlocutory applications for restraining assets and issues examination orders under the Confiscation of Proceeds of Crime Act 1989 (NSW), Criminal Assets Recovery Act 1990 (NSW), and Proceeds of Crime Act 1987 (Cth). The Duty Judge also considers, in chambers, applications seeking authorisation of warrants, such as those made under the Surveillance Devices Act 2007 (NSW).

Associate Judge

The Associate Judge in the Common Law Division deals with statutory appeals from the Local Court (except under the Crimes (Local Courts Appeal and Review) Act 2001). The Associate Judge also deals with applications for summary judgment and dismissal, applications for extension under the Limitation Act 1969, and contested applications to transfer matters from the District Court. The Associate Judge may deal with other matters as outlined in Schedule D of the Supreme Court Rules 1970.

Matters allocated to the Associate Judge are case managed by a Registrar daily at 9:00 am. The Registrar refers applications to the Associate Judge when they are ready for hearing.

Lists of the Common Law Division

In addition to the above, the work of the Division is also distributed amongst a number of specialised Lists. The Chief Justice appoints a specific judge to be responsible for the management of a List throughout the year. These Lists are set out below in alphabetical order, together with the judge appointed to manage each List in 2019.

Specialised case management List	Judge managing List in 2019
Administrative and Industrial Law List	Justice Adamson
Criminal List	Justice Fullerton
Defamation List	Justice Hoeben, Chief Judge at Common Law Justice Sackar
High Risk Offender List	Justice Bellew
Possession List	Justice Davies
Professional Negligence List	Justice Harrison

Administrative and Industrial Law List

Three broad categories of cases are assigned to this List: statutory appeals arising from an error of law or on a question of law; administrative law matters commenced under section 69 of the Supreme Court Act 1970, challenging an error of law on the face of the record or jurisdictional error; and matters under the Industrial Relations Act 1996 that were formerly dealt with by the Industrial Court (also known as the Industrial Commission in Court Session).

The Administrative and Industrial Law List operates in accordance with the procedures outlined in Practice Note SC CL 3.

Bails List

Applications for bail or to review bail determinations can be made to the Supreme Court under the Bail Act 2013 in respect of any person accused of any offence, even if the trial will not be heard in the Supreme Court. After an application is accepted for filing, it is listed for a callover or, at the Court's discretion, listed by the Registrar in chambers. The cut-off day for an application to be listed in a callover is the Wednesday of the week prior to the callover. Applications are normally allocated a maximum of 30 minutes when listed for hearing.

The procedures for bail applications are detailed in Practice Note SC CL 11.

Criminal List

Arraignment hearings are held each month during law term. The aim of the arraignment procedure is to minimise the loss of available judicial time that occurs when trials are vacated after they are listed for hearing, or when a guilty plea is entered immediately prior to, or on the day of the trial's commencement.

The arraignment procedure contemplates the involvement of counsel at an early stage of the proceedings. This allows both the prosecution and defence to consider a range of issues that may provide an opportunity for an early plea of guilty, or to shorten the duration of the trial.

The procedures for arraignment are detailed in Practice Note SC CL 2.

Defamation List

Matters filed in this List are managed in accordance with the provisions of the Defamation Act 2005. Matters are first listed before a Judge for directions and legal argument. The parties may also ask the Judge to consider whether the dispute should be tried before a jury. If the Judge grants an application for trial by a jury, the matter will be set down for hearing. The jury will determine if the material in question is defamatory and if there is any lawful defence for publishing the material. If the jury finds that the plaintiff has been defamed without any lawful defence being established, the Judge will then determine any damages payable and resolve any outstanding issues in dispute.

Practice Note SC CL 4 governs the operation of this List.

General List (formerly known as the General Case Management List)

This List comprises all Common Law Division civil claims that are not included in the Administrative and Industrial Law, Defamation, High Risk Offender, Possession or Professional Negligence Lists. It includes money claims, personal injury claims, claims for possession (excluding land), breach of contract, personal property damage, malicious prosecution, and claims under the Compensation to Relatives Act 1897. These cases are managed by a Registrar, who makes directions to ensure the case is ready for hearing and encourages the early resolution of disputes through mediation or settlement.

The procedures associated with the running of this List are set out in Practice Note SC CL 1.

High Risk Offender List

During 2018 the Court established this List to assist in the early identification and case management of urgent matters under the Crimes (High Risk Offenders) Act 2006. Previously these matters were dealt with in the General List.

Possession List

The Possession List deals with all proceedings claiming possession of land. All matters in this List requiring case management are managed in the Online Court, unless the Court otherwise orders. Early resolution of cases is encouraged through mediation, other alternative dispute resolution processes or settlement. Case management is also used to clarify the real issues in dispute.

Practice Note SC CL 6 applies to cases in this List.

Professional Negligence List

Claims against medical practitioners, allied health professionals (such as dentists, chemists and physiotherapists), hospitals, solicitors and barristers are allocated to the Professional Negligence List. Specialised case management encourages parties to focus on the real issues in dispute in these types of claims. A Registrar conducts early case management hearings. The Professional Negligence List Judge hears also applications and makes directions, according to the specific needs of each matter.

Practice Note SC CL 7 applies to this List.

Equity Division

Proceedings in the Equity Division are case managed by Registrars and Judges of the Division to achieve the just, quick and cheap resolution of the real issues in dispute between the litigants. The work of the Division is administered through the General List and a number of specialised Lists.

Equity Duty Judge

A Judge of the Division is available at all times for urgent applications. A Duty Judge is rostered for a block of two weeks. If a matter requires an urgent final hearing the Duty Judge will consult with the Chief Judge with regard to possible allocation of an urgent final hearing date.

Expedition Judge

Cases are expedited when sufficient urgency is shown. Applications for expedition are made to the Expedition Judge on Fridays. The Expedition Judge case manages all expedited cases and hears those cases when they are ready for trial. During 2019, the Expedition Judge was Justice Sackar.

General List

All cases other than those in the specialised Lists, including applications for family provision under Chapter 3 of the Succession Act 2006 or Family Provision Act 1982, are entered into the General List.

Family provision applications are managed in accordance with Practice Note SC Eq 7 by the Family Provision List Judge, who also sets the cases down for hearing. Other cases in the General List are managed by the Registrar in Equity in accordance with Practice Note SC Eq 1 (Case Management) and Eq 14 (Online Court Protocol). The Registrar sets cases down for hearing before the Judges of the Division. The Registrar consults with the Chief Judge in Equity in relation to long or complex matters.

Specialised Lists of the Equity Division

The Equity Division's caseload is also managed by allocating certain matters to specific Lists according to the nature of the claims. These Lists are set out below in alphabetical order, together with the Judge appointed to manage each List in 2019.

Specialised case management List	Judge managing the List in 2019
Admiralty List	Justice Rein
Adoptions List	Justice Sackar
Commercial List	Justice Hammerschlag
Commercial Arbitration List	Justice Hammerschlag
Corporations List	Justice Black
Family Provision List	Justice Hallen
Probate List	Justice Lindsay
Protective List	Justice Lindsay
Real Property List	Justice Darce
Revenue List	Justice Ward, Chief Judge in Equity
Technology and Construction List	Justice Hammerschlag

Admiralty List

The Admiralty List deals with maritime and shipping disputes. It is administered in the same manner as the Commercial List (see below).

Adoptions List

The Adoptions List deals with applications for adoption orders and declarations of the validity of foreign adoptions under the Adoptions Act 2000.

Most applications are unopposed. Once all supporting affidavits are filed, a Judge will deal with the application in the absence of the public, and without the attendance of the applicants or their lawyers. Unopposed applications require close attention for compliance with formal requirements, but there is little delay.

A small number of contentious hearings take place in court in the absence of the public. Most of these relate to dispensing with consent to adoption. The Registrar in Equity deals with requests for information under the Adoptions Act 2000.

Commercial List

The Commercial List is concerned with cases arising out of transactions in trade or commerce. The case management strategy applied to the running of this List aims to have matters brought on for hearing quickly by:

- attending to the true issues at an early stage
- ensuring witness statements are exchanged in a timely manner
- intense monitoring of the preparation of every case.

There is also adherence to the scheduled hearing date, and hearings are continued to conclusion, even though time estimates may be exceeded.

Commercial Arbitration List

Disputes entered into the Commercial Arbitration List arise from the context of arbitral proceedings in which the Court has prescribed jurisdiction in the Commercial Arbitration Act 2010, or by virtue of a provision within an arbitration agreement, or otherwise.

The List provides parties with a quick and effective mechanism for resolving disputes in relation to arbitration agreements, or disputes arising from the context or form of arbitral proceedings.

The Judge assigned to manage the List calls over all pending applications fortnightly, and parties to matters entered into the List are expected to comply with the provisions of Practice Note SC Eq 9.

Corporations List

A Registrar sits 4 days a week to hear most applications and hearings under the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) and related legislation. The Registrar may refer applications to the Judge on a Monday. The Registrar determines routine applications to wind-up companies, applications for leave to proceed against companies in liquidation (limited to personal injury actions) and applications to reinstate companies.

The Judge will give directions and monitor preparations for hearing in longer matters, as well as in other complex corporate cases. Cases managed in this List are generally given a hearing date as soon as they are ready.

Practice Note SC Eq 4 applies to cases entered into the Corporations List.

Probate List

The work performed by the Judges and the Registrars consists of both contentious and non-contentious cases. The Registrars deal with the majority of non-contentious cases. This includes the granting of common form probate where applications are in order and are unopposed.

Both the Probate List Judge and the Registrars have procedures whereby some supervision is kept over executors in the filing of accounts and ensuring beneficiaries are paid.

In court the Registrar considers routine applications and applications concerning accounts. Should a routine application require a decision on a matter of principle, the application is referred to the Probate List Judge.

The Probate List Judge sits once a week to deal with complex applications. If an application can be dealt with quickly, it is usually heard immediately. Others are set down for hearing, normally within a month.

Contentious matters are monitored by either a Judge or a Registrar. Contentious matters commonly include disputes as to a testator's last valid will. When these cases are ready to proceed, they are placed in the callover list to receive a hearing date before an Equity Judge.

Protective List

The work of the Protective List is to ensure the affairs of people deemed incapable of looking after their property, or themselves, are properly managed. The List also deals with appeals from the Guardianship Tribunal of New South Wales, along with applications (in chambers) from the New South Wales Trustee and Guardian for advice regarding the administration of estates. The Court also considers applications regarding missing persons' estates and, in certain circumstances, may order that their estate be managed under the NSW Trustee and Guardian Act 2009.

Often the issues in dispute in this List are of a highly sensitive nature. The Court acknowledges this situation and handles these proceedings with the minimum degree of formality. However, when there is a dispute that cannot be resolved in this way it is decided more formally.

A Registrar sits in court one day a week for this List. The Registrar may refer a case to be determined by the Judge without further appearance or adjourn a case into the Judge's list. A Judge sits once a week to deal with referred cases. Most cases are considered on the Judge's usual sitting day as soon as the parties are ready. Longer cases, however, are specially fixed, usually within one month.

Real Property List

The Real Property List case manages disputes over land that the filing party seeks to resolve through equitable relief, rather than recovering a monetary sum as damages or debt under the common law. The disputes could relate to a contract for the sale of land, or issues with leases, easements, covenants or strata and community schemes. The Real Property List Judge sits weekly to manage new cases and complex interlocutory applications that have been given leave to proceed. The Registrar in Equity provides support to the List Judge by handling procedural applications for substituted service, security for costs or to set aside subpoenas and notices to produce.

Practice Note SC Eq 12 applies to cases entered into the Real Property List.

Revenue List

The Revenue List is dedicated to the hearing of taxation matters. This List was created to ensure that these matters are heard as efficiently as possible. Matters in the Revenue List are heard by a specific Equity Division Judge each month, and allocated the earliest hearing date possible before this same Judge.

Practice Note SC Eq 10 applies to cases entered into the Revenue List.

Technology and Construction List

Cases involving complex technological issues and disputes arising out of building or engineering contracts are allocated to the Technology and Construction List. This List is managed by the same Judge and in the same manner as the Commercial List.

REGIONAL SITTINGS OF THE COURT

In 2019 criminal trials were conducted at Albury, Armidale, Coffs Harbour, Grafton, Lismore, Newcastle, Port Macquarie, Wagga Wagga and Wollongong. Civil hearings were conducted at Byron Bay, Grafton, Moss Vale, Newcastle, Orange and Wagga Wagga. The Court of Appeal sat at Orange.

Criminal trials and civil hearings will continue to be held in venues outside Sydney as required.

ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION

Alternative dispute resolution is a broad term that refers to the means by which parties can resolve their dispute with the assistance of a neutral person without the need for a conventional contested hearing before a Judge. Mediation is the most commonly used alternative dispute resolution method in Supreme Court cases.

Mediation

Mediation, pursuant to Part 4 of the Civil Procedure Act 2005, is available for most civil proceedings. Mediation is not available in criminal proceedings.

The role of the mediator is to assist parties in resolving their dispute by alerting them to possible solutions, while allowing the parties to choose which option is the most agreeable. The mediator does not impose a solution on the parties. Ten qualified Registrars were certified to conduct mediations throughout 2019. Alternatively, parties could choose to use private mediators.

A matter may proceed to mediation at the request of the parties, or the Court may refer appropriate proceedings with or without the consent of parties. If the Court orders that a matter be referred to mediation, there are several ways in which a mediator may be appointed. If the parties are in agreement as to a particular mediator, they can ask the Court to appoint that mediator or they may agree to mediation by a Registrar. If parties cannot agree upon a mediator, they should attempt to agree on how the Court can appoint a qualified mediator; options are set out in Practice Note SC Gen 6.

Settlement of disputes by mediation is encouraged in the Court of Appeal and in the Common Law and Equity Divisions. Parties may derive the following benefits from mediation:

- an early resolution to their dispute
- lower costs
- greater flexibility in resolving the dispute as the solutions that may be explored through mediation are broader than those open to the Court's consideration in conventional litigation.

Even where mediation fails to resolve a matter entirely and the dispute proceeds to court, the benefit of mediation can often become apparent at the subsequent contested hearing. Mediation often helps to define the real issues and facts in dispute and this may result in a reduction in court time and, consequently, lower legal costs.

3 COURT OPERATIONS

- Timeliness
 - Measurement against benchmarks
 - Listing delays
- Use of alternative dispute resolution

OVERVIEW OF OPERATIONS BY JURISDICTION *

* to be read in conjunction with Appendix (I)

Court of Appeal

There were 366 net new cases coming to the Court of Appeal in 2019. This is 3% higher than in 2018 and 2017 but 8% lower than in 2016.

The sources of the new cases in 2019 were: Supreme Court (226), District Court (87), Land and Environment Court (25), NSW Civil and Administrative Tribunal (10) and other sources (18).

Of the 366 new cases, 191 were commenced by notice of appeal, 135 by summons seeking leave to appeal, and 40 by summons for the Court of Appeal to exercise its original jurisdiction.

There were 339 final disposals in 2019, which is 6% lower than the number in 2018.

Final disposals occurred by the following methods during 2019:

- judgment following hearing of either an appeal, an original jurisdiction summons or a concurrent hearing (a concurrent hearing enables the application for leave to appeal and, where leave is granted, the consequent appeal to be determined in a single hearing) – 63%;
- refusal, striking out or other final disposal of an application for leave to appeal – 23%;
- settlement, or else non-progression to an appeal following a grant of leave to appeal – 9%;
- striking out or other final disposal of either an appeal or an original jurisdiction summons – 5%.

The overall Court of Appeal pending caseload at the end of 2019 was 205 cases, a 15% increase from the end of 2018. Of the 205 pending cases, 63 (31%) were cases for which the question of leave to appeal had yet to be determined.

The age profile of the Court of Appeal's pending caseload remained at a good level during 2019 (see Figure 3.1). At the end of the year, 93% of pending cases were within 12 months of age (with the number of cases older than 12 months increasing slightly, from 11 to 14), which remains better than the national benchmark (90%) for that age group. Four cases were older than 24 months: one is an appeal that is awaiting resolution of a related case in another court, and the remaining three were related cases that have subsequently been discontinued.

The listing delay during most of 2019 ranged between 1 and 4 months for hearing of non-urgent substantive appeals and for concurrent hearings. It settled at 1.8 months for the start of the 2020 law term. Hearings for leave applications alone are listed more quickly, and the listing delay for these was less than 2 months throughout most of 2019, settling at 1.9 months for the start of the 2020 law term.

Court of Criminal Appeal

There were 352 new cases coming to the Court of Criminal Appeal in 2019. This was 14% higher than in 2018 but similar to the rates in 2015 and 2016.

The sources of criminal appeals in 2019 were: District Court (277), Supreme Court (44), Land and Environment Court (9) and other sources (22).

Of the 352 new cases, 207 were appeals against severity of sentence (of which 31 were appeals by the Crown), 102 were appeals against conviction, 20 were appeals against interlocutory judgments and 23 were cases of other types (including 3 cases returned from the High Court for re-hearing).

Conviction appeals made up 29% of new cases in 2019, compared with 27% in 2018 and 24% in 2017. Conviction appeals are more complex and typically require longer hearings than appeals against severity of sentence only. Conviction appeal hearings are usually twice the length of hearings on sentence severity only and can extend to a whole day or longer.

There were 368 disposals in 2019, similar to the number in 2018. Of the 368 disposals, 313 were following a substantive hearing, 23 were by the appellant abandoning or withdrawing the appeal prior to a hearing, 14 were by refusal of leave to appeal and 18 were by other methods.

Over the year, with the lower rate of new cases coming in and the steady disposal rate, the pending caseload decreased from 171 to 155 cases.

The age profile of the Court of Criminal Appeal's pending caseload remained at an optimal level during 2019. At the end of the year, it again met or well exceeded the national benchmarks (see Figure 3.2), with only 5 cases older than 12 months (none of these being older than 19 months).

During 2019 the listing delay for non-urgent hearing of criminal appeals ranged between 2 and 4 months. It settled at 3.4 months for the start of the 2020 law term. Interlocutory appeals are listed more quickly according to their urgency.

Common Law Division criminal cases

In 2019 there were 103 new cases (defendants) registered in the Criminal List, compared with 93 during 2018 and 112 during 2017. Of the 103 new cases, 93 were prosecutions brought by the NSW Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions (83 of these involving homicide charges) and 10 by the Office of the Commonwealth Director of Public Prosecutions.

After entry into the Criminal List, the next step usually is arraignment. The majority of defendants enter a plea of 'not guilty' at arraignment, and the arraignment concludes with those cases being listed for trial. Nearly all trials are conducted with a jury.

At arraignments during 2019:

- 84 defendants were given listings for trials (9 being for judge-alone trials), with the trials set to start in either 2019 or 2020;
- 7 defendants were listed for fitness hearings (to deal with the question of the defendant's capacity to stand trial);
- 20 defendants entered a plea of 'guilty' at arraignment, compared with 23 during 2018 and 14 during 2017.

Some defendants change their plea to 'guilty' after being given a trial date – sometimes the change occurs as late as the start of, or during, the trial. During 2019, there were 13 defendants who entered a plea of 'guilty' after arraignment, of which 10 were either after the start of the trial or during the month in which the trial was scheduled to start. When the plea is changed at such a late stage it is usually impossible to re-assign that trial-time to another defendant.

In total, 33 pleas of 'guilty' were taken in 2019, compared with 41 during 2018 and 42 during 2017. The number and timing of the pleas of 'guilty' are factors that significantly affect the operation of the Criminal List: fewer pleas of 'guilty' entered at arraignment lead to more cases queuing for trials and, consequently, increases in listing delays and finalisation times for cases.

For criminal trials listed to start during 2019 the hearing estimates given to the Court ranged from 1 day to 6 months. The trial of R v Warwick, which had given a 6-month estimate, ran (with interruptions) from July 2018 through all of 2019. The average hearing estimate for the trials on hand (either not started or not concluded) at the end of each month, was between 5.7 and 6.5 weeks during 2019.

Since November 2016, the standard reference for measuring listing delay for criminal trials has been the 4-week trial. At the first arraignments of the 2020 law term, the listing delay was 5.0 months for criminal trials requiring at least 4 weeks of trial time. The listing delay for criminal trials can vary during the year, especially when several long trials are listed simultaneously, when long trials must be vacated and re-listed, or when defendants plead 'guilty' after their trial has been set or started.

Trials for 83 defendants were listed to start during 2019. For 19 of those defendants the trial either collapsed or was adjourned (this happened for 16 defendants during 2018 and for 14 defendants during 2017). The need to re-start or re-list trials following collapse or adjournment reduces the Court's capacity to deal with its backlog of cases.

For the fourteenth consecutive year no trial was 'not reached' (a situation where the Court, rather than the parties, cannot start a listed trial). The Court does not normally over-list its criminal trials. There is already a risk of trials being 'not reached' when earlier trials run longer than their estimated time, and over-listing compounds that risk. The Court is aware of the emotional and financial impact for the family of victims and for witnesses (and of the cost to the community in funding the criminal justice system) when trials are delayed. It is a high priority for the Court to allocate its resources so that every criminal trial can start on its listed day.

A total of 106 defendants' cases were finalised during 2019, compared with 99 during 2018. The Court prepared and handed down 67 sentences during 2019, compared with 74 during 2018.

By the end of 2019 there were 110 defendants with cases pending in the Criminal List, a decrease of 3% from the position at the end of 2018 (113 defendants). Note that a relatively small number of cases can cause appreciable changes (on a percentage basis) in the pending caseload from year to year.

With the relatively low number of cases in this resource-intensive list, the age profile for pending cases can also show some volatility. The age profile for Criminal List pending cases improved during 2019 (see Figure 3.3) with respect to the 12-month benchmark, and the number of cases older than 12 months decreased from 52 to 36; however, the number of cases older than 24 months increased from 6 to 13. Nine of the 13 cases older than 24 months at the end of 2019 had been delayed at least once by the need to either re-start or re-list the defendant's trial (arising from hung juries, collapsed trials or successful applications to vacate scheduled trial dates). One case (Warwick) had its trial delayed for several months by numerous preliminary applications and, since starting, has over-run its 6-month estimate considerably. Access to acting judges is invaluable in maintaining an acceptable age profile for the Criminal List, as the only alternative would be to take permanently appointed judges away from other areas of work.

When evaluating the Court's performance against the national benchmarks it is important to note that almost all indictments presented to this Court are for offences of murder or manslaughter, or have the potential for a life sentence to be imposed. In contrast, the criminal lists of most other Australian supreme courts deal routinely with a broader range of charges that includes shorter maximum sentences. The national timeliness benchmark of 12 months from committal to sentencing is therefore a challenging target for this Court. Also, when making comparison to the national benchmark, note that the relatively small size of the List allows just a few cases to make statistically significant changes to percentage-based results.

The Bails List saw considerable change during 2019, following the commencement in June of a new Bails List Practice Note. Under the new Practice Note, applicants must be ready to proceed at the time of lodging their application. The case is then listed promptly, normally within 5-12 days, for callover to confirm hearing readiness. The Court aims to then list cases for a hearing within 20 days of the callover. This practice ensures the available hearing time is used efficiently. Previously, a hearing date was allocated to each case at lodgment; however, many cases were not ready by the allocated date, resulting in wasted court resources and increased listing delays in the Bails List. The number of applications coming to the Court has reduced under the new Practice Note; the number and (more notably) the proportion of withdrawn applications have also reduced.

A total of 2,648 applicants lodged applications in the Bails List during 2019, a decrease of 42% from the number in 2018 (4,545). Release applications were 97% of the applications lodged in 2019.

There were 3,433 Bails List applications disposed of during 2019, a decrease of 21% from the number during 2018 (4,353). The decrease is attributable to the reduced lodgment rate during the second half of 2019. During the final three months of 2019 only 18% of disposals were as a result of the applicant withdrawing the application before or at the scheduled hearing; in contrast, during the same period in 2018 the withdrawal rate was 68%.

The Bails List pending caseload has decreased substantially: from 893 at the end of 2018 to 122 at the end of 2019. This is a result of the lower lodgment rate and the prompt hearing and finalisation of cases under the new Practice Note.

The listing delay for 30-minute hearings of adults' bail applications has fluctuated markedly over recent years, ranging between 3 and 15 weeks from lodgment, but rarely has it fallen below 6 weeks. Since the start of the new Practice Note, the listing delay has been between 1 and 3 weeks, rising to 7 weeks briefly during Court vacation, and settling at 2 weeks for the start of the 2020 law term. Juveniles' applications are given priority and are nearly always listed within 2 weeks of lodgment.

Common Law Division civil cases

The civil work of the Common Law Division can be separated into two broad groups:

- contested or defended cases (these require case management and include the specialised case management lists)
- cases requiring no case management (such as uncontested cases proceeding to default judgment, and the miscellaneous applications dealt with administratively by Registrars and registry officers).

Overall, there were 3,826 civil filings in the Division during 2019, an increase of 8% from the number in 2018 (3,552). Increases were seen in contested cases, particularly personal injury claims, as well as uncontested cases (noting that the majority of Possession List cases proceed as uncontested cases). The only areas of work with decreased filings were the Administrative Law List, the Defamation List and the miscellaneous applications. Filings in the Supreme Court's Defamation List are now quite low as cases that can properly be commenced in the District Court are encouraged to commence in that jurisdiction.

The disposal rate during 2019 was 7% higher than in 2018. There were increased disposals in every List except the Defamation List. The total of 3,478 disposals included 1,513 contested cases (up from 1,399 last year), of which 440 had been listed for at least one hearing. The remaining 1,965 disposals were uncontested cases: There were 683 uncontested cases dismissed for inactivity, 569 cases finalised by default judgment, 564 disposals of miscellaneous applications and 149 other disposals. During 2019 the registry received a total of 723 applications for default judgment, of which 96% were either granted or requisitioned within 5 working days.

The number of pending cases in the Common Law Division rose by 11% during 2019 (see Figure 3.4). The contested caseload increased by 10%, from 1,938 to 2,140. This is expected to increase the number of cases requiring case management directions and hearings in 2020 and 2021. The uncontested caseload increased by 11%, from 1,012 to 1,124, as a result of increased filings in the Possession List (where most cases proceed as uncontested cases).

The JusticeLink system is used to report the age of pending civil cases (see Figure 3.5). The national benchmarks are set by the Productivity Commission's Report on Government Services. The proportion of the Division's civil caseload within 12 months of age regressed slightly during 2019 from 70% to 68%. The proportion within 24 months of age remained stable at 86%; however, the number of cases on hand and older than 24 months increased from 401 to 471.

The listing delay for non-urgent hearing of Common Law Division civil cases that required 5 days of hearing time fluctuated during 2019 between 6.0 and 11.2 months. By the start of the 2020 law term, the listing delay had reached 12.0 months for 5-day hearings; it was 1.3 months for 2-day hearings and 12.8 months for 10-day hearings.

There were 1,107 matters listed during 2019 for a hearing of either the substantive issues or lengthy interlocutory issues (see Figure 3.6). Of those listed matters, 632 proceeded to hearing, 314 settled after being listed for hearing and 161 successfully applied to vacate the hearing listing. This information is collated independently of the JusticeLink system.

So that available judicial time is used optimally, the Common Law Division's civil hearings are over-listed. This carries a risk that some cases may be 'not reached' (a situation where the parties are ready to proceed but the Court is unable to provide a judge for the hearing). None of the Division's listed hearings was 'not reached' during 2019 (the same result as in 2018, and compared with 2 in 2017). Since 2007 the Division has maintained a 'not reached' rate of 1% or less for its listed civil hearings.

Civil hearings comprise just one area of work covered by the Common Law Division's 23 judges, who also hear all the Court's criminal trials, all hearings in the Bails List and all urgent applications to the Division, including those under the Crimes (High Risk Offenders) Act 2006. The Common Law Division judges are also the principal judicial resource for the Court of Criminal Appeal. The task of appropriately balancing and re-balancing the allocation of Common Law Division judges to all these areas of work is challenging.

Equity Division

The following analysis of the operational trends within the Equity Division does not include uncontested probate cases. The volume of uncontested probate cases is so large that, if included, it would mask the important trends for all other cases in the Equity Division. Uncontested probate cases are discussed separately at the end of this section.

There were 4,253 filings in the Division during 2019, an increase of 3% over the number in 2018 (4,128). A substantial filing increase occurred in the Corporations List (where typically over 80% of cases are case managed and finalised by the Registrar in Equity without requiring any listing before a judge). Smaller increases occurred in the Protective List, Technology and Construction List and Admiralty List. Filings reduced in all other Lists, with the Equity General List showing a substantial reduction.

The disposal rate for the Division was 2% higher in 2019 than in 2018, increasing from 4,204 to 4,278. The largest increase was in the Corporations List, reflecting the high filing rate and relatively short disposal times for winding-up applications (which was the major area of increased filings). Smaller increases were in the Technology and Construction List, the Protective List and contested probate cases. The 4,278 disposals in 2019 included 656 cases that had a least one listing for hearing.

Overall, the number of pending cases in the Equity Division decreased by only 13 cases during 2019 (see Figure 3.7). The largest decrease was in the Equity General List (particularly for family provision cases). The areas of greatest increase were the Technology and Construction List, Corporations List and Real Property List.

The JusticeLink system is used to report the age of pending civil cases (see Figure 3.8). The national benchmarks are set by the Productivity Commission's Report on Government Services. The age profile of the Equity Division's pending caseload showed significant improvement during 2014, when auditing enabled a large number of inactive cases to be finally closed. Auditing continued through to early 2016 but resulted in only a small number of case closures during 2015 and 2016. The age profile of Equity Division cases at the end of December 2019 is shown at Figure 3.8. During 2019, the proportion of the Division's caseload within 12 months of age reduced from 67% to 65%, and the proportion within 24 months of age reduced from 87% to 86%. Over the year, the number of cases on hand and older than 24 months increased from 378 to 399.

The listing delay ranged between 2.3 and 7.2 months during 2019 for 2-day hearings of non-urgent General List or Probate List cases. By the start of the 2020 law term the listing delay for these cases had settled at 6.7 months for 2-day hearings; for 5-day and 10-day hearings it was 9.7 months. Some judges of the Equity Division have been assigned for short periods to hear cases in other areas of the Court so that listing delays are managed across all areas of work.

The JusticeLink system does not provide reports regarding the matters listed for hearing, nor are there manually maintained statistics on this aspect for Equity Division cases, so analysis of the outcomes of the listed hearings cannot be presented.

The Equity Division does not have a general practice of over-listing matters. Running lists occur one week per month for family provision cases; these cases are not given specific listing dates until the week before the running list, but all cases that are ready to proceed in the running list week are usually heard that week.

Uncontested probate applications are handled by the Court's registrars – these applications are for grants of probate or letters of administration, or for reseal of probate grants made outside NSW. A total of 27,438 applications were filed during 2019 (an increase of 3% over the number filed during 2018), being:

- 24,672 for grants of probate
- 2,387 for grants of letters of administration
- 379 for reseals of probate granted elsewhere.

If an application meets all procedural requirements when lodged, a grant will be made on initial processing. The waiting time ranged between 4 and 19 working days during 2019 for initial processing of grant applications, settling at 14 working days by the start of the 2020 law term.

TIMELINESS

Measurement against benchmarks

The Court's performance in dealing with cases in a timely way is reported in terms of the age of the pending caseload. Measurement of the age distribution within a pending caseload helps the Court to assess more quickly whether delay reduction strategies are successful and to identify areas where further case management would be beneficial.

Courts and other organisations may use different methods to measure the age of cases or the timeliness of case handling, and this can produce statistics that are not necessarily comparable. To cite criminal cases as an example, some courts report performance by measuring the time between committal and the commencement of trial, while the Australian Bureau of Statistics produces national statistics that measure the time from committal to either acquittal or sentencing. Unless noted otherwise, the information in Appendix (I) concerning age of pending cases uses the same definitions of commencement and finalisation as are used by Productivity Commission in its Report on Government Services.

Appendix (I) shows the position this Court reached at 31 December for each reported year with regard to the age of its pending caseload. For criminal matters (including criminal appeals) the method of measurement aligns with the method used by the Productivity Commission's Report on Government Services, except where cases are diverted to the Mental Health Review Tribunal. For the Court of Appeal, the reporting method aligns with the methods used by the Productivity Commission but is confined to those cases lodged in the Court of Appeal (whereas the Productivity Commission's figures cover all civil cases that are appellate in nature, not just those lodged in the Court of Appeal). For civil cases in the Common Law and Equity Divisions, the Court's reporting differs from the Productivity Commission's methods in three ways: firstly, the Court reports separately for each Division; secondly, for cases that are appellate in nature but heard in the Common Law or Equity Division, the Court reports those cases within the appropriate Division and not in combination with Court of Appeal cases; and thirdly, the Court reports all pending cases, whereas the Productivity Commission's counting rules allow for exclusion of some particular case types and pending cases that have been inactive for at least 12 months.

Appendix (I) allows comparison of the Court's position with the national benchmarks for 'backlogs' as set by the Productivity Commission. Those benchmarks are applicable to Australia's supreme courts and district/county courts, regardless of the case-mix of those courts. With regard to criminal non-appeal cases, the range of charges routinely brought in criminal lists of supreme courts varies across the country. This Court hears only criminal cases involving charges of murder or manslaughter or where there is otherwise the potential for a life sentence to be imposed; for such cases a 12-month timeframe from committal to sentencing is challenging. With regard to civil non-appeal cases, it is worth noting that every supreme court in the country has difficulty meeting the backlog benchmarks (see Table 7A.21 of the latest Report on Government Services published by the Productivity Commission).

This is the tenth year of reporting the size and age profile of the civil caseloads of the Common Law and Equity Divisions using data extracted from the NSW courts' case information system, JusticeLink. The extraction of data was continually refined from 2009 through to 2012, at which point the Court obtained reports that were better able to identify inactive civil cases. From 2012 to 2016 the Court audited its civil caseload to identify the many inactive cases that had accumulated since 2009. Auditing of backlogs was substantially completed for the Common Law Division by the end of 2014, and for the Equity Division by early 2016. We estimate nearly 5,000 inactive civil cases were closed as a result of that auditing, and that should be taken into account when making any analysis of the changes in size and age profile of the Court's civil caseload since 2010. The Court continues to audit its caseload routinely to identify inactive cases that should be dismissed or closed.

The Report on Government Services also reports on case finalisation times, but that measure is not included here. The Court prefers the age profile of pending cases (the Productivity Commission's 'backlog' concept) as a reporting measure because it has a logical link to desired outcomes: when courts finalise an increased number of aged cases, the age profile of the pending caseload usually improves over that period whereas finalisation-time results usually worsen.

Listing delays

The reported listing delays indicate the timeliness with which the Court can allocate non-urgent hearings for various types of cases that have been assessed as ready for hearing, providing the parties are willing to select from the first available group of hearing dates offered by the Court. Listing delays change during the year and updated information can be sought from the registry.

The table of listing delays in Appendix (I) shows the listing delays that applied at the start of the new law term following the close of the reporting year. The listing delays refer to hearing-time requirements that are considered representative or typical of the various areas of the Court, as explained in the footnotes to the table. (Note that during 2016, the representative hearing-time requirement for Criminal List cases was changed from a 3-week trial to a 4-week trial.)

This standardised measurement of listing delays, in contrast to measurement of the age of pending cases or case finalisation times, focuses on the Court's management of its own resources to deliver timely hearings. It is distinct from other factors that lengthen case finalisation time, such as delays in serving court documents, delays caused by the need to join additional parties to proceedings, time taken up with interlocutory issues or appeals, time needed for parties to prepare their evidence, time that elapses while parties attempt mediation, and the delays caused when parties request a trial date that is later than the first available.

For the representative hearing lengths described in Appendix (I), over the 12 months leading up to the start of the 2020 law term:

- Court of Criminal Appeal hearing delays increased slightly to 3.4 months
- Court of Appeal hearing delays remained relatively stable at an optimal level, with a delay of 1.8 months
- criminal trial listing delays decreased to 5.0 months
- Bails List hearing delays have become far less volatile since the introduction of the new Practice Note, and a delay of around 2 weeks has been typical since June 2019
- Common Law Division civil hearing delays have lengthened considerably, increasing from 6.0 months to 12.0 months
- Equity Division civil hearing delays increased to 6.7 months.

The Common Law Division uses over-listing to make most effective use of judicial time and manage listing delays. The Equity Division uses running lists for family provision cases one week per month for the same purpose but does not have a general practice of over-listing matters.

Allocation of some work to acting judges assists the Court to manage and balance listing delays across all areas of work. Without this ability, longer delays would have been likely in one or more areas of work.

USE OF ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION

The Supreme Court supports mediation as a method of alternative dispute resolution for Supreme Court civil proceedings. Litigants in any contested civil case (including appeals) can consider using mediation. Mediation is generally inapplicable for cases where no defendant contests the claim and in applications for an uncontested grant of probate, for adoption of children, for winding-up of companies, for recovery of proceeds of crime or under the Crimes (High Risk Offenders) Act 2006, and for the miscellaneous applications where only administrative processing is required. For other civil cases mediation is considered generally applicable, although individual cases may have circumstances that make mediation inadvisable or inappropriate.

Since 2014, in addition to its long-standing court-annexed mediation program, judicial settlement conferences have been used in family provision cases where the estate is valued at less than $500,000 or when the parties jointly request one. These conferences are conducted by Justice Hallen and timed to occur at an early stage of case management to encourage settlement as soon as possible and minimise litigation costs. The judicial settlement conferences have reduced the number of cases going to the court-annexed mediation program, and need to be taken into account when interpreting statistics concerning the Court's use of mediation, both court-annexed and overall.

During 2019 the registry recorded a total number of 1,407 referrals to mediation (court-annexed or private), which was a 20% increase from the 2018 total of 1,169 referrals. The number of court-annexed mediation listings (which are conducted by the Court's registrars) increased from 428 in 2018 to 474 in 2019. It is possible that the total number of referrals does not fully include the use of private mediation because it is not essential for litigants to obtain a formal referral for mediation to use private mediation, nor (where no referral order has been made) to disclose to the Court that private mediation has been used.

During 2019 an estimated 4,646 civil cases were filed that were of types for which mediation was considered generally applicable. This is a decrease of 2% from the estimated 4,726 cases filed during 2018.

The 'mediation referral index' is the total number of cases referred for mediation in a given year, expressed as a percentage of the total number of cases (of types where mediation is considered to be generally applicable) commenced in that year. For 2019 the mediation referral index was 30.3%, up from 24.7% for 2018.

Court-annexed mediations are conducted by those Supreme Court registrars who are additionally qualified as mediators. Of the 474 cases listed for court-annexed mediation during the year, 12 cases did not proceed to their allotted mediation session. Of the 462 cases that did proceed to a court-annexed mediation session, the settlement rate was 42%. The Court has a stringent convention for recording cases as "settled at mediation": the parties must have agreed to finalising orders (or have drafted heads of agreement) by the close of the mediation procedure. In addition to the cases noted as 'settled at mediation', a further 31% of cases were recorded as 'still negotiating' at the close of the mediation session, and many of those are likely to have settled subsequently. If parties agree to settle their dispute at any time after the close of the mediation session, those settlements are not recorded as 'settled at mediation' even though the mediation procedure may have been fundamental to the parties eventually reaching settlement. The statistics for the court-annexed mediation program are collated independently of the JusticeLink system, which is not sufficiently reliable for that purpose. There are no statistics on settlement rates for cases referred to private mediators.

The waiting time ranged between 2 and 9 weeks during 2019 for non-urgent court-annexed mediation sessions. The waiting time settled at 6 weeks for the start of the 2020 law term. Where the Court orders an expedited court-annexed mediation, the waiting time does not apply. The waiting time can change during the year, and updated information is published daily in the court list.

Use of arbitration for Supreme Court cases remains possible but is now unlikely because the types of cases that typically had been referred to arbitration no longer come to the Supreme Court. The number of listed arbitrations declined rapidly after 2003, and the most recent referral of a Supreme Court case to arbitration was in 2006 (one referral only in that year).

4 EDUCATION AND PUBLIC INFORMATION

- Judicial officer education (information supplied by the Judicial Commission of New South Wales)
- Public education program
- The role of the Media Manager

JUDICIAL OFFICER EDUCATION

Many judicial officers updated and developed their skills and knowledge during the year by attending conferences, seminars and workshops. Some of the programs are tailored specifically to the Court's needs, while others target the wider legal community. An overview of some of the educational activities completed during 2019 appears below. For a more comprehensive list of activities, please refer to Appendix (III): Other Judicial Activity.

Domestic judicial education activities undertaken in 2019

During 2019, judges attended 88 days of face-to-face judicial education organised by the Judicial Commission of NSW, an average of 2 days of judicial education per judge. Participants are asked to rate the practical value of each education event to their role as a judge. The overall ratings in 2019 (from an average response rate of 35%) reveal that 88% of judges find the Supreme Court's education program relevant and a useful source of knowledge and ideas.

The Court's Annual Conference, held in August, included sessions on legislative intention, private international law, non-publication and take-down orders, new jury direction laws, criminal law, equity/commercial law, administrative law, financial regulation, artificial intelligence and an artificially intelligent future. Forty-one judicial officers and the Principal Registrar attended.

Supreme Court judges also attended two cross-jurisdictional seminars throughout the year. Two attended a seminar in August on Forensic Science in the Courtroom presented by visiting Dr Lucina Hackman. Further, three judges attended a seminar Risky Business, a session focusing on mental wellness presented by Mr Allan Sparkes CV OAM VA.

The Ngara Yura Committee presented various programs throughout the year:

- In June, three Supreme Court judges attended the Ngara Yura Program: Exchanging Ideas: First Nations Consensus in Constitutional Reform, Nation Building and Treaty Making Processes. This program involved a conversation on the making of the 2017 Uluru Statement and the mechanisms used to engage in dialogue, and heard from speakers closely connected to the process. Judicial officers, lawyers and Aboriginal community members came together to discuss the processes of nation-building and treaty-making that are currently being undertaken in a number of communities, and to canvass the challenges for design of such processes that can be inclusive and facilitate community consensus.
- In October, one judge attended a seminar on The Wotton Decision, a class action brought against the State of Queensland and the Commissioner of Police for Queensland that alleged contraventions of the Racial Discrimination Act 1975 (Cth) that occurred arising out of the Queensland Police Service conduct on Palm Island following the death in custody of an Aboriginal man.
- In November, two judges attended a private, behind-the-scenes tour of a temporary exhibit, Living Language: Country, Culture, Community at the State Library of NSW. The exhibit explored shared stories of strength, trauma and joy and highlighted the complex historical relationships between different language groups and the importance of language in preserving culture.

PUBLIC EDUCATION PROGRAM

Three Supreme Court judges attended the National Judicial Orientation Program in Glenelg, South Australia in April 2019, and one attended the National Judicial Orientation Program on the Gold Coast, Queensland in November 2019. The five-day orientation program assists newly appointed judicial officers with their transition to judicial office by facilitating the development and refinement of the skills and knowledge necessary for effective judging. It is conducted by the National Judicial College of Australia with the assistance of the Judicial Commission of NSW and the Australian Institute of Judicial Administration.

The Court also continued to work with the Judicial Commission to ensure the Criminal Trials Courts Bench Book, the Sentencing Bench Book and the Civil Trials Bench Book were regularly updated by judges to reflect developments in the law and sentencing practice.

In addition, there are a number of online resources permanently available to judges of the Supreme Court. Seminar papers and other research tools are available online via the JIRS database and are updated regularly. Where possible, Supreme Court judges are also able to view and participate in programs remotely either via the live streaming of certain programs or viewing a number of programs that have been recorded.

In 2019, numerous secondary school student groups and interested members of the public visited the Court independently with the assistance of a free, self-guided app. The free app guided visitors through a specially selected route highlighting the most legally and visually significant aspects of the Law Courts Building, while also providing insights into the Supreme Court's work. The app allows visitors an opportunity to visit the Court at times that suit their needs while ensuring they are equipped with information necessary to independently orient themselves within the Building and confidently undertake courtroom observation.

THE ROLE OF THE MEDIA MANAGER

The Court's Media Manager is the principal media spokesperson for the superior NSW courts and provides a professional court-media liaison service. The major role of the position is to provide the media with information about court proceedings in the Supreme Court, the Land and Environment Court (LEC) and the Industrial Relations Commission (IRC). The Media Manager works with the media to ensure that judicial decisions are correctly reported to the community and promotes initiatives taken by the courts to enhance access to justice. The Media Manager is also responsible for ensuring that media outlets are alert to any non-publication and suppression orders issued in proceedings, and that they are familiar with the terms and impacts of these orders. This is important because the media's failure to acknowledge or adhere to such orders in their coverage could compromise proceedings.

During 2019, the Media Manager completed 5,666 requests for information, up from 5,613 the previous year. Of these:

- 90% related to Supreme Court matters
- 10% related to the LEC, IRC and other courts and tribunals.

Sydney metropolitan journalists from major newspapers and radio and TV stations remained the major users of the Media Manager's services, accounting for nearly 70% of requests. Fewer than 12% of users were from NSW regional newspapers, radio and TV stations, and less than 1% was from suburban Sydney newspapers. The remaining 17% of enquiries were from interstate or overseas journalists, writers for specialist/trade publications, authors, lawyers, students or members of the public. During the reporting year, the Media Manager received 13 media applications to film final decisions under the broadcasting judgments legislation, which includes a presumption in favour of permitting recording and broadcast of judgment remarks that determine proceedings. All but one request was granted. Filming occurred in 11 criminal sentences and one class action civil decision.

In addition to reactive work, the Media Manager undertook proactive tasks such as organising media interviews with Justice Ruth McColl, marking her retirement and 100 years of women in the law, and assisting with the Supreme Court's social media activity.

5 OTHER ASPECTS OF THE COURT'S WORK

- Uniform Civil Procedure Rules
- Law Courts Library
- Admission to the legal profession and appointment of Public Notaries
- Admission under the mutual recognition Acts
- Administration of the Costs Assessment Scheme
- Pro Bono Scheme
- Judicial Assistance Program

UNIFORM CIVIL PROCEDURE RULES

The Civil Procedure Act 2005 and Uniform Civil Procedure Rules 2005 commenced operation in 2005. The Uniform Rules Committee was established under section 8 and Schedule 2 of the Act. The Chief Justice (who acts as chair) and the President of the Court of Appeal are ex officio members of the Committee. The other Supreme Court representatives on the Committee during 2019 were Justice Adamson and Justice Lindsay. As well as considering amendments to the Rules the Uniform Rules Committee approves forms for use in civil proceedings under section 17 of the Act.

LAW COURTS LIBRARY

The Law Courts Library is one of the premier law libraries in Australia; elements of its collection predate the formation of the Supreme Court in 1824. The Library is a legal resource and information centre for all judicial officers, court staff and registrars of the various courts in the Law Courts Building.

Legal authorities and accurate information are provided to support the timely and effective decision-making of the courts. In 2019, librarians answered more than 1,430 requests from the Supreme Court, and over 3,000 legal resources were borrowed. Law Courts Library reader services librarians continued to provide support for court use of online resources and e-publications on iPads and other mobile devices.

In addition, 2,503 Supreme Court (including Court of Appeal and Court of Criminal Appeal) decisions were published during 2019 on the NSW Caselaw website, which is managed and supported by the Library.

The NSW Department of Communities and Justice (formerly the NSW Department of Justice) and the Federal Court of Australia jointly fund the Law Courts Library. The operations of the Library are overseen by the Library Advisory Committee, consisting of three judges from the Federal Court of Australia and three judges from the Supreme Court of NSW.

The Committee provides advice on matters of collection development and service provision.

During 2019, the Supreme Court representatives on the Advisory Committee were Justice Basten, Justice Macfarlan and Acting Justice Emmett.

ADMISSION TO THE LEGAL PROFESSION AND APPOINTMENT OF PUBLIC NOTARIES

The Legal Profession Admission Board is responsible for:

- determining the eligibility and suitability of people seeking to be admitted as a lawyer in NSW
- accrediting academic law courses and practical legal training courses in NSW
- registering, enrolling and examining students in the Board's own Diploma in Law course
- appointing public notaries in NSW
- maintaining the Roll of Lawyers and the Roll of Public Notaries in NSW.

Constituted by the Legal Profession Uniform Law Application Act 2014, the Board is a self-funding statutory corporation. Membership of the Board comprises:

- the Chief Justice of NSW
- three Judges of the Supreme Court nominated by the Chief Justice
- a nominee of the Attorney General
- nominees of the Committee of NSW Law Deans, the Bar Council, and the Law Society Council.

During 2019, the members of the Board were:

- The Honourable T F Bathurst AC, Chief Justice (Chair)
- The Honourable Acting Justice Emmett AO (Presiding Member)
- The Honourable Justice Payne (Deputy Presiding Member)
- The Honourable Justice Lindsay
- Mr Garry McGrath SC (to December 2019)
- Ms Margaret Allars SC
- Mr Wen-Ts'ai Lim
- Mr John Dobson
- Professor Lesley Hitchens
- Dr Jacob Campbell (to October 2019)
- Professor Michael Quinlan
- Ms Phillipa Hetherington (from November 2019)

A detailed account of the Board's activities and achievements can be found in its Annual Report, which is available for download from www.lpab.justice.nsw.gov.au.

ADMISSION UNDER THE MUTUAL RECOGNITION ACTS

The Registry liaises with the Legal Profession Admission Board in performing the task of managing applications from legal practitioners for admission under the mutual recognition Acts: from New Zealand legal practitioners under the Trans-Tasman Mutual Recognition Act 1997, and from Australian legal practitioners from other States and Territories under the Mutual Recognition Act 1992.

In 2019, 71 New Zealand practitioners were enrolled under the Trans-Tasman Mutual Recognition Act. In comparison, there were 66 Trans-Tasman admissions in 2018 and 58 in 2017.

The number of Australian legal practitioners enrolled under the Mutual Recognition Act 1992 remains negligible after legislative changes to allow most lawyers to practise seamlessly throughout Australia.

ADMINISTRATION OF THE COSTS ASSESSMENT SCHEME

The Costs Assessment Scheme is the mechanism through which clients and practitioners can resolve disputes about costs and also quantify costs orders made by a NSW court or tribunal. The Scheme's processes are governed by the applicable NSW legal profession legislation that was in force when the litigation, under which the costs dispute arose or the costs order was made, commenced.

The Chief Justice appoints independent Costs Assessors to determine applications for costs assessment and review. All costs assessors are legally qualified and must have been a practising Australian lawyer for at least 5 years to be considered eligible for appointment.

The Costs Assessment section of the Registry undertakes the day-to-day administration of the Scheme under the guidance of the Manager, Costs Assessment.

During 2019, 1,321 costs assessment applications were lodged. Of these, 580 (44%) related to costs between parties to costs orders; 162 (12%) were brought by clients against practitioners, and 442 (33%) were brought by practitioners to recover against clients. There were 137 reviews (10%).

The review process is undertaken by a review panel comprising two senior assessors. The review panel generally considers the material before the assessor and can affirm or vary the original assessment. If the application is made under the Legal Profession Act 2004 (LPA) a costs assessment determination can be appealed to the District Court as of right on questions of law and otherwise by leave. Although now repealed, the LPA still applies to assessments where the matter (in which the costs order was obtained) was commenced before 1 July 2015 or where first instructions from a client were given before 1 July 2015.

The Legal Profession Uniform Law Application Act 2014 (as amended) incorporates the recommendations of the Chief Justice's Review concerning costs assessment reviews. For matters falling under the new legislation, an appeal is now to the District Court (leave is required if the amount in dispute is less than $25,000) or to the Supreme Court (leave is required if the amount in dispute is less than $100,000).

The Chief Justice appoints the Costs Assessment Rules Committee (CARC). Since 1 July 2015, with the commencement of the Legal Profession Uniform Law Application Act 2014, the CARC was reconstituted in the legislation to include a Supreme Court Judge, a District Court Judge, and representatives from the Office of the Legal Services Commissioner, the Law Society of NSW and the NSW Bar Association as well as representatives from the panel of costs assessors. The CARC is chaired by Justice Brereton.

The Costs Assessment User Group meets as necessary to discuss issues on costs assessment from a user's perspective. The User Group met regularly during 2019 to discuss progression of a new costs chapter in the Judicial Commission's Civil Bench Book and requirements for additional approved uniform civil forms, and to plan educational events for costs assessors. The Group also discussed when costs assessment determinations can and cannot include interest on unpaid legal costs.

PRO BONO SCHEME

The Court established the Pro Bono Scheme with support from the New South Wales Bar Association and Law Society of New South Wales in 2001.

The Scheme operates in accordance with Part 7 Division 9 of the Uniform Civil Procedure Rules 2005 and enables unrepresented litigants to be referred to a barrister and/or solicitor once the Court determines they are deserving of assistance.

During 2019, the Court made 27 referrals under the Scheme: 9 referrals were made in Court of Appeal cases and 18 were made in cases from either the Common Law or Equity Division. The Scheme's success depends upon the continued goodwill of barristers and solicitors who have indicated a willingness to participate in the Scheme. The Court gratefully acknowledges and extends its sincere thanks to those who support the Scheme by volunteering their services.

JUDICIAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

A Judicial Assistance Program was launched to help New South Wales judicial officers meet the demands of their work whilst maintaining good health and well-being. The Program provides for 24-hour access to a professional, confidential counselling service and free annual health assessments. The Court administers this Program on behalf of all judicial officers in NSW.

- II. The Court’s committees and user groups
- III. Other judicial activity: conferences, speaking, engagements, publications, appointments to legal and cultural organisations, delegations and international assistance and commissions in overseas courts

APPENDIX (I): COURT STATISTICS – COMPREHENSIVE TABLE OF STATISTICS

(to be read in conjunction with Chapter 3)

- Filings, disposals and pending cases
- Timeliness
 - age of pending cases at 31 December
 - listing delays after the end of the year
- Alternative dispute resolution

Filings, disposals and pending cases

NOTES:

The figures for pending cases exclude cases that have been re-opened after judgment.

Pending caseload figures within the Common Law and Equity Divisions (or within case management lists within those Divisions) will not always reconcile with associated filing and disposal figures. This is because cases commenced in one case management list or Division may subsequently be transferred to another list or Division for further case management and disposal.

The statistics for 2015 through to 2019 for civil cases in the Common Law Division and for the Equity Division (other than the Adoptions List, Protective List and contested Probate List cases) have been extracted from the JusticeLink system.

The statistics for the Court of Appeal, Court of Criminal Appeal, Criminal List, Adoptions List, Protective List and contested Probate List matters are not supplied through the JusticeLink system; they continue to be manually collated and are subject to audit and revision.

Appeals / applications for relief	173	157	141	120	142
Applications for leave to appeal	63	53	43	58	63

¹ These statistics exclude notices of intention to appeal. A notice of intention to appeal does not commence a substantive appeal or application.

² These statistics cover Court of Appeal cases only. They are not comparable to 'civil appeal' case statistics reported within the Productivity Commission's Report on Government Services, which include all civil cases of an appellate nature, including appeals and reviews dealt with in the Common Law Division or Equity Division.

³ When a notice of appeal is filed after a successful application for leave to appeal, the appeal and the leave application are counted as one case (not two). For this reason, the figures for filings of notices of appeal (and applications for relief) and filings of applications for leave, combined, exceed the number of net new cases.

⁴ This item includes not only leave applications, but also applications where parties have elected to have a concurrent hearing of both the leave application and the appeal (if leave is granted).

⁵ Where an appeal is preceded by a grant of leave, this is counted as one continuous case, with a final disposal being counted only when the substantive appeal is finalised. For this reason, in any year, the figures for disposals of notices of appeal (and applications for relief) and disposals of applications for leave, combined, exceed the number of final disposals.

¹ These statistics exclude appeals from decisions of the NSW State Parole Authority. There were 7, 8, 2, 0 and 2 applications lodged in the Court of Criminal Appeal for the years 2015 to 2019, respectively, for review of Parole Board decisions.

Pending applicants at 31 December	761	742	707	893	122

¹ In all years, the figures exclude matters under Part 7 of the Crimes (Appeal and Review) Act 2001, applications for re-determination of a life sentence, and summary jurisdiction cases. Summary jurisdiction cases are included within the statistics for 'other summons cases' within the Common Law General List (where they are managed).

² The Court uses counting rules that align with national counting rules, except concerning referrals from and to the Mental Health Review Tribunal (MHRT). Whenever the Court determines that an accused person is unfit to plead, it refers that person to the MHRT – the Court records that event as a case disposal. If the MHRT subsequently determines that the person is fit to stand trial, the Court records that event as a new case commencement. If the MHRT determines that the accused person is unlikely to be fit to stand trial within the next 12 months it notifies the Court, which then obtains advice as to whether the Director of Public Prosecutions intends to take further proceedings against the accused. If the Director of Public Prosecutions advises that the proceedings are to be taken further, then the Court records a new case commencement.

⁶ The statistics for 2019 are not directly comparable to previous years. Practice Note SC CL11 commenced on 3 June 2019 and set out a new practice and procedure for preparing and filing applications for hearing in the Bails List. Applications are now accepted only when they are accompanied by all material on which the applicant seeks to rely, and when the applicant's legal representation (or self-representation) is confirmed. Consequently, since June 2019 the operational figures are lower as they no longer include incomplete applications that would ultimately be withdrawn or dismissed.

¹ All Possession List cases are assumed to be uncontested at the time of filing. If a subsequent defence or cross-claim is filed the case is listed for case management and counted as a contested case.

² The High Risk Offender List commenced during 2018. Some cases commenced earlier in the Common Law General List were transferred to this List for case management and final disposal.

² In this List all applications types are counted, including information applications.

³ During 2014 and 2015 a large number of inactive cases in this List were audited and, where appropriate, closed. Accordingly, in those years the disposals figures are unusually high.

⁵ The Real Property List commenced on 1 June 2015. Some cases commenced earlier in the Equity General List were transferred to this List for case management and disposal.

⁶ This includes all probate applications that are lodged as uncontested applications for a grant of probate or letters of administration, or for reseal of a probate grant. Registrars deal with uncontested applications. Only a small proportion of these applications become contested. Contested applications are transferred to the Probate (Contentious Matters) List and are counted additionally as filings there. The figures here do not include other probate-related matters handled by the registry, such as probate accounts matters, caveats, deposited wills, and elections to administer estates.

- ¹ For cases in the Court of Appeal and the Court of Criminal Appeal, the age of cases includes time taken to deal with any associated application for leave to appeal.
- ² These figures include the effect of factors outside the control of the Court, such as the time taken to complete relevant cases in other courts/tribunals or interlocutory appeals, time taken to prepare essential reports, and time occupied by trials that result in a hung jury.
- ³ The national standards are taken from the 'backlog' performance indicator within the Courts chapter of the Report on Government Services (published by the Productivity Commission). Note that the national standards apply to district/county courts as well as to supreme courts; consequently, the national standards apply to a large range of indictments, criminality and civil case types. The case-mix of any court can influence that court's capacity to achieve the standards. For criminal cases, for example, while other supreme courts in Australia typically deal with a broad range of offences, this Court deals typically with cases involving homicide offences (other matters, generally involving the most serious criminality, may be brought only with the approval of the Chief Justice). For civil non-appeal cases, all supreme courts in Australia continue to have difficulty achieving the national standards (see the 'Backlog' tables in the latest Report on Government Services).
- ⁴ The figures exclude matters under Part 7 of the Crimes (Appeal and Review) Act 2001 and applications for re-determination of a life sentence.
- ⁵ The figures are comparable from year to year. The counting unit is defendants. Cases are considered to be pending until the time of sentence/acquittal or other final disposal. Where a trial collapses and a new trial is ordered, the counting of the age of the case is calculated from the date of committal (not from the date of the order for a new trial).

Timeliness – listing delays after the end of the year ^{1,2}

	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019
COURT OF APPEAL ³	2.3 months	1.0 month	2.2 months	1.7 months	1.8 months
COURT OF CRIMINAL APPEAL	2.5 months	1.5 months	1.2 months	3.0 months	3.4 months
COMMON LAW DIVISION
Criminal List ⁴	5.5 months	7.3 months	5.5 months	6.5 months	5.0 months
Civil lists ⁵	6.0 months	7.3 months	7.0 months	6.0 months	12.0 months
Bails List ⁶	10.5 weeks	9.0 weeks	7.0 weeks	2.0 weeks	2.0 weeks
EQUITY DIVISION ⁷	3.0 months	5.3 months	4.5 months	6.0 months	6.7 months

- ¹ This is the time between the establishment of readiness for hearing and the first group of available hearing dates that the Court offers for criminal and civil trial cases, criminal and civil appeals and Bails List cases. These delays do not apply if the Court orders an expedited hearing.
- ² The listing delays show the position at the start of the new law term (for example, for 2019 it is the position at the start of the 2020 law term). This removes the end-of-year impact of the law vacation.
- ³ This refers to substantive appeals (including those heard concurrently with a leave application). The listing delay is usually shorter for a hearing of a leave application alone.
- ⁴ For years up to 2015, this refers to cases requiring at least 3 weeks of trial time. From 2016 onwards, it refers to cases requiring at least 4 weeks of trial time.
- ⁵ This refers to cases requiring up to 5 days of hearing time.
- ⁶ Prior to 2019, this referred to applications by adults receiving public funding. From June 2019, it refers to all applications by adults for a 30-minute hearing. Applications by juveniles are usually heard within 2 weeks.
- ⁷ This refers only to General List and Probate (Contentious Matters) List cases requiring 2 days of hearing time before a judge.

¹ 'Court-annexed mediation' refers to mediations conducted by the registrars of the Court who are also qualified as mediators. It excludes settlement conferences conducted by judges and mediations conducted by private mediators.

² This section refers to court-annexed mediation listings for the year – note that referrals to court-annexed mediation that are made late in one year may result in listings early in the following year.

³ This refers only to cases that have settled and either agreed upon finalising orders or drafted heads of agreement by the close of the mediation session. It does not include cases that advise a settlement at any later time (even though the mediation may have contributed significantly to reaching that settlement). In 2019, for example, in addition to the 42% of cases that settled at the close of their court-annexed mediation session, a further 31% of cases were continuing settlement negotiations.

⁴ This refers only to cases using court-annexed mediation. The registry does not collect settlement data for mediations conducted by private mediators.

⁶ This covers all cases in which, during the year, either a referral to mediation was made or directions were given that involved mediation, regardless of whether the mediation would be through the court-annexed mediation program or conducted by a private mediator.

⁸ Referral for arbitration is possible for Supreme Court cases, but no referrals have been recorded since 2006.

Harmonisation Committee

The Harmonisation of Rules Committee is a committee of the Council of Chief Justices. It has representatives of the Federal Court of Australia, the Family Court of Australia, each of the Supreme Courts of Australia and the High Court of New Zealand. The goals of the Committee are the harmonisation of rules of court and, as appropriate, practice in specific subject areas, either as identified by references from the Council of Chief Justices or, with the endorsement of the Council, by consensus amongst participating jurisdictions, through the members of the Committee. The Committee monitors the operation of harmonised rules of court and practice adopted by participating jurisdictions, as well as relevant proposals for modification of the substantive law, to generate amendments to those rules and practices on a harmonised basis. The convenor of the Committee is appointed by the Council of Chief Justices. Other members are nominated by the head of each participating jurisdiction for one or more specific subject area projects, for the monitoring of adopted harmonised rules of court or for both. The Committee is supported by a Registrar of the Federal Court, with research and advice from the Australasian Institute of Judicial Administration.

Possession List Users Group

The Possession List Users Group was established in 2006. The Possession List is, numerically, the largest list in the Common Law Division and involves claims for possession of land following mortgage default. The Group comprises representatives from a range of law firms who regularly appear for plaintiffs in the List and organisations (Legal Aid New South Wales, the Consumer Credit Legal Centre and Redfern Legal Centre) who provide legal assistance to those experiencing problems with debt. The Group does not have appointed members. Rather, representatives from those firms and organisations attend and provide a range of views on relevant issues. The Group's primary objectives are to encourage frank discussion concerning issues affecting the running of the List, to identify how any problems might be overcome and to improve court processes to assist parties in this class of proceedings.

Supreme Court Rules Committee

The Rule Committee meets as required to consider proposed changes to the Supreme Court Rules 1970 with a view to increasing the efficiency of the Court's operations, and reducing cost and delay in accordance with the requirements of access to justice. The Committee is a statutory body that has the power to alter, add to, or rescind any of the Rules contained in, or created under, the Supreme Court Act 1970. The Committee's membership is defined in Section 123 of the Act, and includes representatives from each Division of the Court and key organisations within the legal profession. Many of the rules that govern civil proceedings are now incorporated in the Uniform Civil Procedure Rules. In these circumstances, fewer meetings of the Rule Committee have been required.

Uniform Rules Committee

The Civil Procedure Act 2005 (NSW) and the Uniform Civil Procedure Rules 2005 (NSW) commenced in 2005, consolidating provisions in relation to civil procedure under a single Act. It provides a common set of rules for civil proceedings in the Supreme, District and Local Courts of New South Wales, and, to a limited extent, in the Land and Environment Court of New South Wales and the Industrial Relations Commission of New South Wales. The Uniform Rules Committee was established under Section 8 and Schedule 2 of the Act. The Chief Justice chairs the Committee, with representatives from the Supreme Court and other courts, as well as from the New South Wales Bar Association and the Law Society of New South Wales. The Committee met four times during 2017. As well as considering amendments to the Rules (under section 9 of the Act), the Committee approves forms for use in civil proceedings (under section 17 of the Act).

APPENDIX (III): OTHER JUDICIAL ACTIVITY

In addition to hearing and determining cases, the Court's judicial officers actively contribute to the ongoing professional development of the legal community domestically and abroad. Their contributions encompass activities such as presenting papers and speeches at conferences and seminars, submitting articles for publication, giving occasional lectures at educational institutions, meeting judicial officers from courts around the world and hosting delegations. Many judicial officers are also appointed to boards, commissions and committees for a wide range of legal, cultural and benevolent organisations. The Judges' and Associate Judge's activities during 2019 are summarised below in chronological order.

Judicial officers generally use private funds to cover travel and accommodation costs when attending a conference or speaking engagement outside Australia. However, the NSW Department of Communities and Justice provides funding towards attendance at several key official events each year. These events are identified as critical to promoting the Court's reputation and role within the Asia-Pacific region as a centre for commercial dispute resolution, and demonstrating its commitment globally towards developing ethical judicial processes.

The events judicial officers attended during 2019 with financial assistance were:

Event date	Recipient of travel grant	Purpose of overseas visit
